

---

Contents

---

Foreword by Wim Vanhaverbeke . . . . .	ix
Foreword by Gaëtan de Sainte Marie . . . . .	xiii
Acknowledgements . . . . .	xvii
Introduction . . . . .	xix
Chapter 1. External Environment of an SME: From Determinism to Strategic Innovation . . . . .	1
1.1. Introduction. . . . .	1
1.2. The classic approach of the firm's environment: a deterministic relationship (also) affecting the SME . . . . .	3
1.2.1. Adapting to the environment . . . . .	4
1.2.2. Giving meaning to environmental scanning . . . . .	7
1.3. From strategic intent to RBV: what level of emancipation is there from environmental constraint for SMEs? . . . . .	9
1.3.1. Conceptual framework. . . . .	9
1.3.2. The emancipation of SMEs from the environment . . . . .	10
1.4. The SME in a hypercompetitive environment: from emancipation to environmental transformation. What role is there for strategic innovation?. . . . .	14
1.4.1. A conceptual evolution to think about in the transformation of the environment. . . . .	14
1.4.2. Methods for developing strategic innovation. . . . .	16
1.4.3. Strategic innovation: what about SMEs? . . . . .	20
1.5. Conclusion . . . . .	22
1.6. Appendix: from the French province of Drôme to London, becoming an entrepreneur by using cultural resources . . . . .	24

---

Chapter 2. Stimulating the Innovative Capabilities of SMEs in an Ever-Changing World . . . . .	29
2.1. Introduction. . . . .	29
2.2. An understanding of current mutations . . . . .	31
2.2.1. Understanding the emergence of the economy of platform . . . . .	31
2.2.2. Meeting of the platform economy and social aspirations: which collaborative economy? . . . . .	38
2.3. Evolving in a changing world: how can we boost the innovative capacities of SMEs? . . . . .	42
2.3.1. The barriers and drivers of SME innovation . . . . .	44
2.3.2. Boosting the innovation capacity of SMEs in times of change . . . . .	49
2.4. Conclusion . . . . .	58
2.5. Appendices . . . . .	60
2.5.1. Digital transformation and servitization: disruptive innovations for SMEs? . . . . .	60
2.5.2. New approaches needed for the digital revolution and innovation . . . . .	63
Chapter 3. Innovation and Creative Slack in SMEs . . . . .	71
3.1. Introduction. . . . .	71
3.2. An SME's internal components as a source of new ideas. . . . .	73
3.2.1. Leadership and creative slack. . . . .	74
3.2.2. Employees and creative slack. . . . .	78
3.3. The SME environment as a source of new ideas . . . . .	83
3.3.1. The territory: a cognitive space for the emergence of ideas . . . . .	84
3.3.2. Inter-organizational relationships in SMEs: a source of new ideas . . . . .	90
3.4. Conclusion . . . . .	94
3.5. Appendices . . . . .	95
3.5.1. Family businesses and innovation: the same DNA or expression of a paradox? . . . . .	95
3.5.2. The territory of French Polynesia: a space of constraints, opportunities and resources for small businesses . . . . .	98
Chapter 4. Innovation and Social Construction of a New Idea in SMEs . . . . .	103
4.1. Introduction. . . . .	103
4.2. The social construction of a new idea in SMEs through rhetoric . . . . .	105
4.2.1. The legitimacy of the idea promoter as an SME. . . . .	106
4.2.2. Discourses to convince people of the usefulness of the idea. . . . .	109
4.3. "Making" the social construction of a new idea in SMEs. . . . .	115

---

4.3.1. The exploitation of design thinking in SMEs . . . . .	115
4.3.2. The role of intellectual property in SMEs . . . . .	123
4.4. Conclusion . . . . .	130
4.5. Appendices . . . . .	130
4.5.1. Securitization for SMEs: an innovative and alternative financing instrument . . . . .	130
4.5.2. Five components favorable to the integration of design in SMEs. .	135
Conclusion . . . . .	139
References . . . . .	153
Index . . . . .	185