
Contents

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	xiii
Chapter 1. The Emergence of the Functional Economy: Context and Approaches	1
1.1. Towards a service and environmental model	4
1.1.1. New production dynamics.	4
1.1.2. The Functional Economy in political decisions	18
1.2. The Functional Economy approaches	24
1.2.1. The origins	25
1.2.2. “Product-service systems”.	30
1.2.3. Functional and cooperative economy	38
1.2.4. The Functional Economy	42
1.2.5. Synopsis.	51
1.3. The Functional Economy and its applications	52
1.3.1. The Functional Economy and the circular economy	52
1.3.2. The Functional Economy and industrial ecology.	59
Chapter 2. Economic Model and Innovation Dynamics	65
2.1. The Functional Economy as an economic model	68
2.1.1. The value proposal	70

2.1.2. New cost and income structure.	82
2.1.3. A supply co-produced with the customer	85
2.1.4. An economic model based on cooperation.	89
2.1.5. Environmental performance	92
2.1.6. Territorial ecosystem and collective heritage	101
2.2. Innovation dynamics	105
2.2.1. The application of an analytical division	107
2.2.2. A complex dynamic.	112
Chapter 3. Functional Economy Challenges and Difficulties	137
3.1. The Functional Economy challenges	138
3.1.1. The evolution of the organizations' trajectory.	139
3.1.2. The territory, the commons and the ecosystem of territorial actors.	148
3.1.3. The difficult assessment of value	158
3.2. From traditional difficulties to great obstacles.	161
3.2.1. Difficulties encountered at a micro-economic scale.	163
3.2.2. Difficulties encountered at a meso-economic scale	167
3.2.3. Difficulties encountered at a macro-economic scale	175
Conclusion	187
References	195
Index	213