
Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Preface	xiii
Introduction	xv
Part 1. Multiple Journeys	1
Introduction to Part 1	3
Chapter 1. Mr. José Jacques Gustave, the Global Entrepreneur!	5
1.1. Context	5
1.1.1. Parents-warrior	5
1.1.2. Difficult school years	7
1.1.3. An asserted curiosity	7
1.2. The little voice inside	8
1.2.1. The journey of awakening	8
1.2.2. Reconciliation	9
1.2.3. Values	9
1.3. The fool with the hands full	10
1.3.1. A network	10
1.3.2. Convictions	11
1.3.3. A thirst to move forward	11
Chapter 2. Mrs. Cindy Dorkenoo, No Destiny, Only What She Does!	15
2.1. Context	15
2.1.1. “Classic” parents	16
2.1.2. Boring education	16
2.1.3. The period of studies	17

2.2. From employment to entrepreneurship	18
2.2.1. Not made for wage-earning	18
2.2.2. Full-time entrepreneurship	19
2.2.3. Naïas, a means and not an end	20
Chapter 3. Mrs. Elodie Sarfati, a Brownian Journey!	23
3.1. Context	23
3.1.1. A modest and open environment	24
3.1.2. Quiet schooling	24
3.1.3. Studies	25
3.2. Time to build	25
3.2.1. A student entrepreneur	25
3.2.2. Back to employment	26
3.2.3. Getting started	27
Chapter 4. Mrs. Chrystèle Sanon, “A Schizophrenic Who Treats Herself?”	29
4.1. Context	29
4.1.1. The origins	29
4.1.2. A voluntary journey	30
4.1.3. Towards working life	30
4.2. From employment to entrepreneurship	31
4.2.1. The emergence of an entrepreneur	31
4.2.2. Her first entrepreneurial experience	31
4.2.3. FULL’S STREET, the launch	32
Chapter 5. Mr. Christophe Vattier, the Lucky Rebel!	35
5.1. Context	35
5.1.1. Origins	36
5.1.2. Teenage years of disruption	36
5.1.3. A dream student life	37
5.2. From employment to entrepreneurship	38
5.2.1. Classical wage earning	38
5.2.2. Entrepreneurial wage earning	38
5.2.3. Pure entrepreneurship	39
Chapter 6. Mrs. Lise Bellavoine, When Entrepreneurship Becomes an Art!	41
6.1. Context	42
6.1.1. Nothing but nature	42
6.1.2. A poet	42
6.1.3. The loop	43
6.2. Employment to entrepreneurship	44

6.2.1. Paid employment	44
6.2.2. The trigger	45
6.2.3. Entrepreneurship	46
Chapter 7. Ms. Laura Nordin, the Paradigm Shift?	49
7.1. Context	49
7.1.1. Middle-class background	50
7.1.2. Standardized education	50
7.1.3. Easy schooling and education under influence	51
7.2. From employment to entrepreneurship	51
7.2.1. In the family business	51
7.2.2. Reconversion	52
7.2.3. Minut'Prod	53
Conclusion to Part 1	55
Part 2. Marrying Two “Mindsets”	57
Introduction to Part 2	59
Chapter 8. Effectuation Vs. Causation	61
8.1. From beliefs to paradigms	62
8.1.1. Predicting the future to better control it (old paradigm)	63
8.1.2. Controlling the future to better prevent it (new paradigm)	65
8.1.3. Saras Sarasvathy’s effectuation theory	67
8.2. From one mode to another	71
8.2.1. Criticisms of causation	71
8.2.2. The first principle	74
8.2.3. The other principles	76
8.3. From one world to another	78
8.3.1. The raw unfiltered reality	79
8.3.2. The operational team of a business unit	81
8.3.3. Similarities and differences	83
Chapter 9. One Stage, Two Headliners	87
9.1. The distribution of roles	88
9.1.1. The corporate open innovation structure as a stage	88
9.1.2. Mr. X, in the role of a business unit employee	90
9.1.3. Mr. S, in the role of the start-up’s CEO...	92
9.2. The difficulties of the script	94
9.2.1. Mr. X and Mr. S, the millefeuille effect	95
9.2.2. Mr. X and Mr. S, the swarm effect...	95

9.2.3. Mr. X and Mr. S, the “not invented here” effect....	98
9.2.4. Mr. X and Mr. S, the “It’s up to me” effect...	99
9.3. The recurrence of obstacles	100
9.3.1. One thing, multiple views	100
9.3.2. The not guilty silences	102
9.3.3. Those who decidedly didn’t understand anything	103
9.3.4. The unwilling pirates	105
Chapter 10. Two Ecosystems	109
10.1. The ecosystems in question	109
10.1.1. The external ecosystem (of start-ups)	111
10.1.2. The internal ecosystem (of the large group).	114
10.1.3. External ecosystem vs. internal ecosystem	116
10.2. Actors’ behavior	118
10.2.1. Three attitudes or behaviors	118
10.2.2. Some polemical illustrations	120
10.2.3. Collaboration to oil the wheels	122
10.3. Associated risks	124
10.3.1. The source of risks	124
10.3.2. Fiscal risk	125
10.3.3. HR risk	125
10.3.4. Security risk	126
10.3.5. Compliance risk	126
10.3.6. Purchasing risk.	127
10.3.7. Image risk	128
10.3.8. Intellectual property risk	128
Conclusion to Part 2	131
Part 3. The Mysteries of the Profession	133
Introduction to Part 3	135
Chapter 11. Skills and Influences	137
11.1. “Hard” skills or situational intelligence	138
11.1.1. Benevolent control	138
11.1.2. Understanding the organizational microcosm.	140
11.1.3. Knowing how to problematize	142
11.1.4. Tips and tricks to develop your “hard” skills	144
11.2. Soft skills or people’s intelligence	146
11.2.1. The art of advocacy	147
11.2.2. The art of defining.	148

11.2.3. The art of motivating	150
11.2.4. The art of building an identity network	151
11.2.5. The art of changing norms	152
11.2.6. Tips and tricks to develop your “soft” skills	154
11.3. Acting with your skills.	155
11.3.1. Relative advantages	156
11.3.2. Complexity.	157
11.3.3. Functional ambiguity	157
Chapter 12. Useful Resources	161
12.1. Useful human resources	161
12.1.1. Human management.	162
12.1.2. Business developers.	165
12.1.3. Ecosystem management.	167
12.1.4. Digital communication	170
12.2. Useful “non-human” resources	171
12.2.1. The basis	171
12.2.2. Going further.	172
12.2.3. The real false costs	172
12.3. Misuse...	173
12.3.1. Misuse from start-ups	174
12.3.2. Misuses from the large group.	176
12.3.3. Corporate open innovation, this human misuse?	178
Chapter 13. Operation Principles	181
13.1. Social operating principles (social functioning)	182
13.1.1. Social principle 1: situational intelligence.	182
13.1.2. Social principle 2: people’s intelligence.	184
13.1.3. Social principle 3: the intelligence of moments.	187
13.2. Structural operating principles (structural operation)	189
13.2.1. Structural principle 1: the “corporate network” dimension	190
13.2.2. Structural principle 2: permanent iterations.	192
13.2.3. Structural principle 3: “learning by doing”	194
13.3. Business principles of operation (business functioning)	196
13.3.1. The events	196
13.3.2. Satisfaction.	198
13.3.3. Direct values.	200

Conclusion to Part 3	205
Conclusion	207
References	211
Index	225