
Contents

Introduction	ix
Chapter 1. The Brand as a Source of Value Creation	1
1.1. The historical, legal and economic character of the concept of a brand	1
1.1.1. The brand's historical character	3
1.1.2. The brand's legal character.	7
1.1.3. The brand's economic nature	14
1.2. Brand value and brand equity.	17
1.2.1. Definition of the brand value concept	17
1.2.2. Definition of brand equity	20
Chapter 2. Brand Development	29
2.1. The brand, an intangible asset	30
2.1.1. The growing role of the intangible	30
2.1.2. The multiple concepts linked to the notion of assets	31
2.1.3. The importance of intangible assets.	35
2.2. The valuation of brands: presentation of the different standards and methods	36
2.2.1. Accounting standards related to brand valuation	36
2.2.2. The main methods of brand valuation	42

Chapter 3. Value Review and the Acquisition of the GUCCI Brand	61
3.1. The GUCCI brand	62
3.1.1. Presentation of the Pinault-Printemps-Redoute and Gucci Groups	62
3.1.2. Management of luxury brands	65
3.1.3. The battle for the GUCCI brand	72
3.2. Analysis of the financial information disclosed by the Pinault-Printemps-Redoute Group during the transaction	75
3.2.1. Recognition of the GUCCI brand in the financial statements of the Pinault-Printemps-Redoute Group	75
3.2.2. GUCCI brand valuation methods.	81
3.2.3. Brand valuation methods described in the financial documents of the Pinault-Printemps-Redoute Group and presented to shareholders	84
3.3. Conclusion	87
Chapter 4. Analysis of the Practices of Thirty-Seven International Companies	91
4.1. Dissemination of financial information on real assets	91
4.1.1. The boundary between mandatory and voluntary information	92
4.1.2. The main vehicle for disseminating financial information	94
4.1.3. Financial information and brand development	96
4.2. Empirical analysis	98
4.2.1. Prior exploration	98
4.2.2. Confirmatory analysis	100
4.2.3. The sampling method and the measuring instruments used	101
4.3. Determining a typology of information offer in relation to brands	112
4.3.1. Data processing mode	112
4.3.2. Processing of “Y” 2011 and “Y” 2012 years data	113
4.3.3. Presentation of results	115
Chapter 5. Determinants of Brand Disclosure	119
5.1. The offer of information related to brands	119
5.1.1. Internal variables	120
5.1.2. External variables.	121

5.2. Processing the data collected: measuring correlations	125
5.3. Presentation of results	129
5.3.1. Test results for the year 2011	129
5.3.2. Test results for the year 2012	131
5.4. Conclusion	132
Conclusion	135
Glossary	149
References	153
Index	161