

---

Contents

---

Foreword by May East . . . . .	xi
Foreword by Patrick Scaufaire . . . . .	xiii
Author Biographies . . . . .	xvii
Introduction . . . . .	xxv
Carine DARTIGUEPEYROU and Michel SALOFF-COSTE
Part 1. Epistemological Outlines . . . . .	1
Chapter 1. Foresight and Civilization . . . . .	3
Michel SALOFF-COSTE
1.1. An unpredictable but interesting future . . . . .	3
1.2. From the melting pot of popular media to the diversity of forward-looking points of view. . . . .	5
1.3. Changing civilization, the dynamics of disruptions . . . . .	5
1.4. Examples of megatrends structuring the future. . . . .	7
1.5. Foresight epistemology and epistemology of foresight . . . . .	8
Chapter 2. Cultures and Trajectories . . . . .	11
Jean-Éric AUBERT
2.1. Foundations of civilizations . . . . .	11
2.2. The “sinicization” of the world and the exercise of power . . . . .	14
2.3. The pressure on the West and the risks of disintegration . . . . .	16
2.4. The South and the modernization of societies . . . . .	17
2.5. Confrontations and conflicts. . . . .	18

---

2.6. Facing climate change . . . . .	19
2.7. Conclusion . . . . .	21
Chapter 3. Forward-Looking Design of Evolution . . . . .	23
Francis JUTAND
3.1. The search to answer questions about the future . . . . .	24
3.2. Foresight as the design of human society . . . . .	25
3.3. History. . . . .	26
3.4. The dynamics of collective forces . . . . .	28
3.5. The spiritual questioning . . . . .	29
3.6. The active imagination of the future . . . . .	30
Part 2. Foresight at the Service of Action. . . . .	33
Chapter 4. A European Perspective on Foresight . . . . .	35
Laurent BONTOUX
4.1. Understanding foresight applied to European policies . . . . .	35
4.2. Foresight for European policies in practice . . . . .	37
4.2.1. Context . . . . .	37
4.2.2. Methods . . . . .	39
4.2.3. A 2040 vision for the customs union . . . . .	42
4.2.4. Reference scenarios for long-term strategic thinking . . . . .	44
4.2.5. Foresight for better regulation . . . . .	45
4.2.6. Short formats to engage decision-makers. . . . .	45
4.3. How can “good” foresight be achieved? . . . . .	46
4.4. Conclusion . . . . .	46
Chapter 5. Foresight in Order to Act Ethically . . . . .	49
Carine DARTIGUEPEYROU
5.1. Analyzing megatrends to question the future . . . . .	49
5.2. Defining possible bifurcations and disruptions in order to accelerate transitions . . . . .	52
5.3. Acting on socio-economic trajectories in order to make choices. . . . .	56
5.4. Conclusion . . . . .	58
Chapter 6. Foresight at the Service of Innovation . . . . .	59
Nathalie POPIOLEK
6.1. The art of deciding in an uncertain world . . . . .	60
6.1.1. The essence and role of foresight . . . . .	60
6.1.2. A holistic and operational approach . . . . .	61

6.2. Innovation strategy in companies in the context of transition . . . . .	63
6.2.1. The new industrial and societal situation . . . . .	64
6.2.2. The different innovation strategies. . . . .	65
6.3. Foresight and support for innovation in companies . . . . .	67
6.3.1. Analysis of the innovative ecosystem . . . . .	67
6.3.2. Consequences of the innovative investment . . . . .	68
6.3.3. Foresight approach and radical innovation . . . . .	69
6.4. Conclusion . . . . .	70
Chapter 7. Acting and Evaluating through Values in the Long Term . . . . .	73
Valérie KAUFFMANN
7.1. The question of foresight applied to territories . . . . .	73
7.2. Initiating change with action research . . . . .	74
7.2.1. Better understanding of the issues at work . . . . .	74
7.2.2. From the initiation of the project to the collective construction process . . . . .	75
7.2.3. Getting to grips with the subject: integrating biodiversity? Field surveys . . . . .	75
7.3. The need for dialogue: the values approach. . . . .	76
7.3.1. The value approach to biodiversity . . . . .	77
7.3.2. The compass, a tool for territorial strategy through the means of values . . . . .	77
7.3.3. Entry through values: deciphering . . . . .	78
7.4. From principles to proposals and means of action . . . . .	79
7.4.1. Biodiversity as a common good . . . . .	79
7.4.2. The ethics of dialogue . . . . .	80
7.4.3. Acting over time . . . . .	80
7.4.4. Individual and collective responsibilities . . . . .	81
7.4.5. Towards a compass for territorial foresight. . . . .	81
Part 3. Scenarios for the Future . . . . .	83
Chapter 8. Changing the Thinking Mode . . . . .	85
Zhouying JIN
8.1. The challenges facing human beings in the 21st century . . . . .	85
8.2. Deep concern over the direction of human evolution as well as technological development. . . . .	87
8.2.1. Concerns about the direction of human evolution. . . . .	87
8.2.2. The imminent disaster facing science and technology . . . . .	87

8.2.3. Are human beings ready for the negative impact of technological innovation? . . . . .	88
8.3. The crisis of so-called human–machine civilization driven by the theory of scientific and technological omnipotence. . . . .	89
8.3.1. An ideal outcome . . . . .	89
8.3.2. A tragic outcome . . . . .	90
8.3.3. Five “Wars” among three categories of species . . . . .	91
8.4. A new understanding of technology . . . . .	92
8.4.1. Soft technology that has been neglected for a long time . . . . .	92
8.4.2. Soft technology, another paradigm of technology. . . . .	92
8.4.3. Human beings must regulate technology . . . . .	93
8.4.4. It is not enough just to regulate and control . . . . .	94
8.5. What kind of civilization should human beings pursue? . . . . .	95
8.5.1. The essence of Industrial Civilization . . . . .	95
8.5.2. Exploring the future evolution of humanity from social-humanity perspectives – the sublimation and perfection of human nature. . . . .	95
8.5.3. Global Civilization . . . . .	96
8.6. The difficult task of creating a “Global Civilization” . . . . .	97
8.7. Beyond Global Civilization – paradigm shift: from Global civilization to Great Civilization . . . . .	97
8.7.1. Human beings should pursue a higher level of civilization than Global Civilization – Great Civilization . . . . .	97
8.7.2. The significance of Great Civilization. . . . .	98
8.8. Can humans eventually create a Great Civilization?. . . . .	98
8.9. Sustainable development – paradigm shift of human survival and development . . . . .	99
8.10. Changing the thinking mode is the key for paradigm shift . . . . .	100
Chapter 9. Foresight Shock, Facing the Inevitable Impact of the Climate Crisis . . . . .	103
Herman GYR and Lisa FRIEDMAN
9.1. Looking back to look forward. . . . .	105
9.2. When foresight becomes shocking: tipping points . . . . .	107
9.3. The race is on. . . . .	108
9.4. A profound leadership moment . . . . .	109
9.5. From foresight shock to climate action . . . . .	109
9.6. The emergence of the regenerative era. . . . .	110
9.7. Positive signals of the emerging regenerative era . . . . .	112
9.8. From foresight shock to mobilizing action at scale: leadership practices . . . . .	113

9.9. Three leadership practices for building the regenerative era . . . . .	113
9.9.1. Visionary strategic leadership: from signals to strategy . . . . .	115
9.9.2. Innovation leadership: from strategy to impact . . . . .	117
9.9.3. Emotional leadership. . . . .	118
Chapter 10. Post-Covid-19 Governance: Two Scenarios . . . . .	123
Marc LUYCKX GHISI
10.1. Our approach to foresight. . . . .	123
10.2. The shock strategy . . . . .	124
10.2.1. The possibility of a major economic crisis in the near future . . . . .	124
10.2.2. The two possible scenarios . . . . .	127
10.3. Conclusion . . . . .	133
Postface . . . . .	135
Pierre GIORGINI
References . . . . .	145
List of Authors . . . . .	161
Index . . . . .	163